Our vision

We, the reception location in the aliens' chain for Dutch society, provide for the reception, supervision and departure of asylum seekers. We do this by providing safe accommodation, a means of living and tailored programs.

Our mission

We ensure in a professional manner that people in a vulnerable position are accommodated and supported in a safe and acceptable environment in a manner that ensures that the reception of aliens remains controllable for politicians and society and enables us to give account for our acts

Vision and mission

The Aliens Police complete their registration and the investigation of their identity

central reception

The Municipal Health Services carry out the mandatory TB screening

Asylum seekers stay at the central reception location for a maximum of four days.

Preparation for their request for asylum

The asylum seekers are helped in the preparations by the Dutch Refugee Council and Legal Aid Council process reception locations

Max 3 weeks rest and preparation

The first part of the asylum procedure is the General Asylum Procedure (max 2 weeks)

At the end of this procedure the Immigration and Naturalization Service informs asylum seekers whether their request has been granted or refused, or whether a further investigation is necessary

The asylum seeker has been granted a residence permit. COA links the former asylum seeker to a municipality near the AZC. The municipality provides a suitable home. The former asylum seekers stay at the AZC until they can move into their self-contained home

The Immigration and Naturalization Service needs more time to decide on the request for asylum. The asylum seekers begin the Extended Asylum Procedure and stay at the AZC until the procedure is completed.

- The request for asylum is denied

The asylum seekers have been refused a residence permit. They may stay at the asylum seekers' center for at most four weeks. They can use this time to prepare for their departure from the Netherlands. They are helped by the Repatriation and Departure Service. They must leave the country within four weeks.

Is departure from the Netherlands impossible within four weeks?

Some asylum seekers who have been refused asylum cannot leave the Netherlands within four weeks. These asylum seekers have the right to reception at a freedom restricting location until they are able to leave the Netherlands. The supervision at these freedom restricting locations focuses on repatriation

Asylum seekers' centers vary in type and size. An average asylum seekers' centers houses about four hundred occupants of some forty nationalities. The occupants of the asylum seekers' centers look after themselves as much as possible.

The occupants usually live in housing units in groups of between five and eight persons. Each housing unit has a number of bedrooms and a shared living room, kitchen and sanitary facilities. The occupants are responsible for keeping their housing tidy.

Pocket money

COA gives asylum seekers weekly pocket money for food and clothing. The amount depends on the family's size and any income they may have. Occupants with an income or savings contribute to the cost of their reception. COA gives a one-off allowance for household effects and, as necessary, occasional allowances for purposes such as travelling expenses or buying a baby outfit.

asylumseekers center*

COA Centraal Orgaan opvang asielzoekers

Adults take part in programs and supervisory interviews tailored to the phase of their asylum procedure. Their self-help is promoted by taking part in the maintenance of the grounds and cleaning the communal areas, etc. They are paid a small sum for this. Occupants and their children can also take part in courses or sports at the local sports club. Children of compulsory school age go to school.

Occupants can visit the Open Learning Centre to exercise with educational materials and keep in contact with their family and friends. The Open Learning Centre is equipped with computers with an Internet connection. Children can do their homework at the Centre. The users are supervised by other occupants and Dutch volunteers.

After arrival at the reception center

All occupants arriving at a reception location take part in a mandatory intake interview to discuss issues including their rights and obligations. They are also informed about the procedures at the reception location, for example: Where can I do the shopping? How do I use public transport? Who can I contact with any questions?

During the asylum request procedure

We offer an orientation training program to occupants waiting for a decision on their request for asylum. The objective is to have the occupants explore both their current situation and their future. The participants in the training program receive information about subjects including school and bringing up children, healthcare and the position of women in the Netherlands

granted a resident permit

Residence permit holders can prepare for their integration in Dutch society during the rest of their stay at the reception center. The occupants follow a 'Knowledge of Dutch society' training program and Dutch lessons to prepare them for the mandatory integration program they will follow in their municipality. These lessons focus on the knowledge they will need once they have been assigned a home in a municipality and cover subjects such as working in the Netherlands, citizenship, bringing up children, education and healthcare.

the asylum request has been refused

We help occupants whose request for asylum has been refused in coming to terms with the fact that they must leave the Netherlands. We provide information about the options open to them for returning home and, in cooperation with the Repatriation and Departure Service, hold 'departure interviews' with them
